what they way to follow up on those changes. It was further noted that the AFC should also look into why so many faculty did not complete their assessment data entry.

It was cited that we really just need to document what we are already doing. Faculty make changes in their teaching methods all the time we just need documentation of those changes. For instance, Cooperative Education has hundreds of students placed in field experiences every year, and we have absolutely no data on what they learned!

It was noted that the BOR is moving to a system-wide general education core, with
